

From: Michael J. McNall
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 11/20/01 7:36am
Subject: Microsoft vs Freedom

November 20, 2001

Salutations sojourner,

I do not know if I have the means requisite to adequately communicate my benumbed dismay over the egregious lack of Justice in the courts decision regarding MicroSoft. There is nearly the taint of perfidy in the air surrounding the removal of Mr. Jackson coupled with the clownish censure of him by some sycophants of MicroSoft.

The evidence presented in the trail was clear enough for a blind fool to perceive, that Microsoft is guilty. Their machinations and evasive dissimulation's underscored their guilt most aptly. In fact they are culpable of a most grievous evil against that hallowed pillar of America, Freedom. Through the the wickedness of their hearts and the rapacious greed which drives them, MicroSoft has declared all shall bend the knee in servitude to their system.

I am not a slave. I will not pledge allegiance to an Evil company. I am a free man who would have all Americans and the businesses which provide services to them have the freedom to choose the computer operating system they desire, not that which Mr. Gates and Mr. Ballmer declare they must use.

It is my prayer that in this late hour of the darkening gloom some persons of courage would lift up the Light of Truth and render a judgment against MicroSoft of such a profound severity they would become incapable of ever perverting the course of the digital realm again.

Please, I beseech you, stand as Moses stood before the corrupt Pharaoh and deliver us from the tyranny of his dominion in to the land of Freedom, yet once more.

Sincerely,

Michael J. McNall